Hardware, software & sounds news

Mini Rig

MORE THAN JUST A HANDFUL

- With up to 30hrs of battery
- 15 watts of power with a custom 52mm speaker driver
- Deep powerful bass, unbelievable for its size
- Customise your sound with the new App
- Pop it in your pocket, the perfect travel companion

An even more mini mini rig is now available, with even better battery life! Check out all the sizes on their website.

Quiz Tones App

The image displays the Quiz Tones app interface across three devices: a laptop, a tablet, and a smartphone. The laptop screen shows a quiz question 'Acoustic Guitar - Easy' with 7 of 10 questions and a score of 600. The tablet and smartphone screens show a list of frequencies (4 kHz, 3 kHz, 8 kHz, 6 kHz) and a volume control slider.

Test yourself and improve your recognition of different frequencies, this handy app is 40% off for a limited time, making it $4.99 in the App Store, it's also available for Android, check out the website here.

Turbine SFX

This fun plugin from Boom library allows you to manipulate the sound of several engines, adapting the parameters in real time. As it's a plugin, you can also use it within Abelton or QLab for live SFX manipulation, find out more here.

Interesting reading

The Agent of Change Bill has received the backing of MPs this week. The bill means that developers of new buildings will be required to address noise issues, rather than laying responsibility for noise abatement solely at the door of music venues and churches. This article explains more.

This article explores the changes that the Audio world has gone through and looks to the future of listening in 2018

This letter to the Editor from David Collison caught our eye on page 11 of the LSi Magazine this Month. You'll need to subscribe to read it online, but it's worth it to read this interesting insight into the design of the National Theatre from a sound
